

Environmental Sustainability Policy

1. Our definition of sustainability

EventWell endeavours to consider not only environmental sustainability but all four pillars of sustainability equally in its practice:

Environmental: ecological balance, efficient use of natural resources, renewable energy

Economic: material prosperity, education & employment, fair trade

Cultural: wellbeing, creativity, identity & diversity

Social: Human rights, justice & participation

EventWell fully supports the adoption of sustainable practices. It is committed to reducing its impacts on the environment and endeavors to champion sustainability and the principles of sustainable development embodied in the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) adopted by the United Nations member states in 2015.

2. Our commitment to environmental sustainability

Within the context of environmental sustainability the organisation believes it is a way of behaving today that ensures that future generations will have enough natural resources to maintain a quality of life equal to if not better than that of current generations.

To meet this commitment and to achieve gradual continuous improvement the Trust strives to:

- Address waste reduction: recycle as much as possible, and reusing items if possible;
- Raise awareness to our employees and volunteers;
- Using recyclable materials when possible;
- Recycling any printer cartridges;
- Limiting paper use: limit the printing, printing on both sides;
- Encourage the use of public transportation;
- Cloud work as much as possible;
- In the process of planning each event, environmental sustainability is always thought off;
- Encourage our employees and volunteers to reduce the use of single use plastics and bring and use reusables at events and to this office.

3. Compliance

It is our policy to comply with all legal requirements and regulations for environmental protection. We will seek external advice on environmental compliance and the advice of our contractors and external companies if necessary.

4. Environmental Sustainability Policy Review

EventWell will review this policy regularly and see if there are any other ways they can become environmentally sustainable.

5. Responsibility

Overall responsibility for this policy and its implementation lies with the CEO.
